

Utah Association of Area Agencies on Aging

WEBER
HUMAN SERVICES

Weber/Morgan Area Agency on Aging

Feeding Utah's Most Vulnerable

Providing meals to Utah's older adults and other high-risk individuals during the COVID-19 pandemic

Utah's Area Agencies on Aging met the increased demand for meals for older adults and other high-risk individuals during the COVID-19 pandemic. We provided more home-delivered meals than ever before and implemented curbside pick-up meals at our Senior Centers, which helped protect our older adults when they needed it most.

“If it were not for having lunch pickup, many of us would be completely isolated. It is a lifeline that gives hope.”

- Senior Center meal recipient in Tooele

Together, we provided meals and hope.

This effort was made possible by dedicated staff and volunteers who continued to serve throughout the pandemic.

I am writing this to tell you how much it means for Henry & I to have our lunches. I'm 87, Henry is 77 we wouldn't have good healthy meals without your program. And sometimes it gives me two meals. And almost always two snacks. When you get older you don't seem well enough to cook. I think you understand what I am saying (like for Xmas we split a frozen dinner)

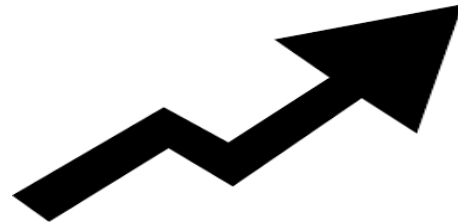

Sincerely Yours

*Joyce Kaysan 1-11-21
Henry & Kaysan - 01-11-21*

During the pandemic, Weber Human Services Area Agency on Aging significantly increased its number of meals delivered (Meals-on-Wheels and Pickup-Meals at Senior Centers) in Weber/Morgan.

TOTAL Number of Meals Delivered by Weber/Morgan Aging:
100,276 meals (April ~ December 2019) vs 139,557 meals (April ~ December 2020)

39% Increase!

Utah's Area Agencies on Aging

Local Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs) were formally established as the "on-the-ground" organizations charged with helping vulnerable older adults live with independence and dignity in their homes and communities.

Visit Weber Human Services Aging at www.weberhsaging.net

Contact other AAAs at <https://daas.utah.gov/locations-new/>

